

BIG DATA COLLIDES WITH BIG COMPLIANCE

A CLOSED DOOR ROLL UP YOUR SLEEVES WORKING SESSION

December 14th, 2015, 1-4:30 pm PDT
Complimentary Snacks and Dessert
The Googleplex, Mountainview, California

Reserve your spot today by contacting Dave Curran at david.curran@tr.com

Big Data is both front and center in the media and of concern and intrigue within corporations.

Compliance and Legal functions are being asked to wrestle with an unprecedented level of issues ranging from data breaches to government investigations to uncovering potential smoking guns within company emails. Yet these risk mitigation efforts are often underfunded, underappreciated and under equipped to deal with modern day challenges.

Please join your peers and industry experts in an off the record and real world conversation to explore:

- Leading practices for addressing the “known knowns” of information – how do you find smoking guns?
- How do Legal and Compliance functions work together productively; as well as with their business counterparts?
- How do you effectively balance data privacy and business needs?
- How to create, track and visualize meaningful data about data – e.g., reports and analytics?
- How to make your case for more headcount and budget dollars?
- How do you develop the right balance of people, process and technology?

INDUSTRY LEADERS WHO WILL HELP FACILITATE THE DISCUSSION

ANDY HINTON
VICE-PRESIDENT ETHICS
& COMPLIANCE, GOOGLE
INC.

MARCUS MORISSETTE
GLOBAL PRIVACY
OFFICER & PRIVACY
COUNSEL, EBAY

ROY MCDONALD
PARTNER, DLA PIPER

JEFF ARONSON
PARTNER, DLA PIPER

DAVE CURRAN
GLOBAL DIRECTOR RISK
& COMPLIANCE,
THOMSON REUTERS

